

- The Tour de Ski has been held annually since the 2006/07 season. It started with five stages in the first two seasons, was reduced to four stages until the 2018/19 season and then to three stages until the 2023/24 season. Now it is held in just two stages to reduce the travel time. Just like in the last season, the 2025/26 Tour de Ski will take place at the two Italian venues of Toblach and Val di Fiemme.
- Val di Fiemme is the only venue to host a stage in 20 Tour de Ski editions, since 2006/07. The Tour de Ski has concluded every year with the final stage in Val di Fiemme where the skiers race up the Alpine skiing course on Alpe Cermis in Cavalese.
- Dario Cologna (SUI) and Johannes Hoesflot Klaebo (NOR) have won four Tour de Ski titles each, so Klaebo could become the first athlete, man or woman, to win Tour five times. No other active Men's skier has won it more than once.
- Johannes Hoesflot Klaebo (NOR) also holds the record of Tour de Ski stage wins, having won 23 so far. Petter Northug (NOR) is second on 13 wins, and Sergey Ustiugov (RUS) third with nine. Harald Oestberg Amundsen (NOR) is the active Cross-Country skier with the second-most stage wins, on four.
- Norwegian athletes have won four consecutive Men's Tour de Ski titles, which is the longest streak of wins for the same country in Men's Tour de Ski history. Norwegian athletes have won the Men's Tour de Ski eight times with four different athletes, all wins having come in the last 12 seasons, after Norway did not win any of the first seven editions of the Tour.
- Norway started the season winning all three Men's events of the first and second World Cup stages in Ruka and Trondheim. The streak was broken in Davos, where Lucas Chanavat (FRA) won the Sprint. Norwegian skiers have won ten out of the 12 Men's World Cup races held so far, and in all ten victories, the runner-up was also Norwegian. They also won three out of four races of the Toblach Tour de Ski stage.
- Johannes Hoesflot Klaebo (NOR) won his 100th individual World Cup victory in his hometown of Trondheim earlier this season. Klaebo became the first Men's athlete to reach this landmark, and second overall, joining retired compatriot Marit Bjoergen (NOR), who claimed 114 World Cup wins before retiring in 2018.
- Johannes Hoesflot Klaebo (NOR) has won the Overall World Cup title five times, between 2017/18 and 2024/25. If he wins the 2025/26 Overall Crystal Globe, he will equal his countryman Bjoern Daehlie (NOR), who holds the record of six Overall titles, won between 1991/92 and 1998/99. Klaebo is tied with Gunde Svan (SWE) on five titles. No other active Men's Cross-Country skier has more than two Crystal Globes.
- Johannes Hoesflot Klaebo (NOR) has held the record for most individual World Cup wins in a single season since 2022/23, when he topped the podium 19 times. Klaebo's 16 World Cup victories in the 2023/24 season is the second-highest number of World Cup wins in a single season. He has five individual wins this season so far.

- Johannes Hoesflot Klaebo (NOR) also holds the record for most individual podiums in a single season since 2022/23, when he made it to the podium in 23 individual World Cup podiums. He currently has seven individual podiums this season so far.
- Johannes Hoesflot Klaebo (NOR) won the Sprint Freestyle in Toblach, with Lars Heggen (NOR) in second place and Oskar Opstad Vike (NOR) third. This was the first ever World Cup podium for Heggen in his fifth World Cup start. He made his World Cup debut in Trondheim earlier this season, with a fourth place in the Sprint Classic.
- Mattis Stenshagen (NOR) won the Interval Start Classic in Toblach, with Johannes Hoesflot Klaebo (NOR) in second place and Emil Iversen (NOR) third, producing another clean podium sweep for Norway – the sixth one in the first ten races of the season. It was the first ever World Cup win for Stenshagen, who had four third places before.
- The 10km Mass Start Free race in Val di Fiemme last season was won by Simen Hegstad Krueger (NOR), with Mika Vermeulen (AUT) in second place and Friedrich Moch (GER) third. This was the last World Cup win for Krueger to date, as he obtained three more third places last season, and is still seeking for his first World Cup podium this season.
