

Facts & Figures Davos

- Last season's Crystal Globe winner Harald Oestberg Amundsen (NOR) leads the World Cup standings on 528 points, ahead of compatriots Simen Hegstad Krueger (401) and Johannes Hoesflot Klaebo (397).
- Davos, Switzerland was the middle stop on the Tour de Ski last season, but moves to earlier in the calendar this time with three days of racing instead of two; Sprint Relays have been added.
- Lucas Chanavat (FRA) won the Sprint Freestyle in Davos last season, with Amundsen taking the 20km Classic Pursuit.
- Klaebo has four World Cup victories in Davos, all in sprints, but none since 2021
- Last season's Crystal Globe winner Jessie Diggins (USA) leads the World Cup standings on 493 points, ahead of Sweden's Jonna Sundling (438) and Therese Johaug (NOR, 432).
- Davos, Switzerland was the middle stop on the Tour de Ski last season, but moves to earlier in the calendar this time with three days of racing instead of two; Sprint Relays have been added.
- Linn Svahn (SWE) won the Sprint Freestyle in Davos last season, with Kerttu Niskanen (FIN) taking the 20km Classic Pursuit.
- Johaug has six World Cup victories in Davos, five over 10K and one at 15K.