

FIS RULES AND TERMS OF REFERENCE FOR COMMITTEES

EDITION 2023

Introduction

The Rules (Terms of Reference) for the FIS Committees, Version VI, March 1983 was worked out on request of the FIS Council and the Working Group for Re-organisation (meetings of December 3, 1982 in Rome and of February 26, 1983 in Falun) and based on the decisions of the FIS Council Meeting in February 1982 in Oslo and the provisional drawings of the proposed re-structure of the Committees (December 4, 1982).

A revision of the regulations was undertaken in 2000 and distributed after the 42nd International Ski Congress in Melbourne since there were a number of new Committees introduced since the regulations were implemented in 1983 and additionally other Committees which no longer exist or have merged with others. Further changes to the Committees decided by the FIS Council at its meetings during the FIS Congress in Portoroz in June 2002 and some amendments to their tasks and responsibilities were updated. Adaptations have been made thereafter on a regular, evolving basis to the Committees and other Bodies such as the Athletes' Commission, including their membership and tasks.

In November 2018, the Council approved the "High Five to Gender Equality", which has established membership criteria targets for the FIS Committees that are integrated in this document (see art 5.3).

This version incorporates the amendments to the Committees until 2022.

The funnel system, which is designed to improve the working methods and communication of the various Committees, is also recognised in the structure of the Committees, Sub-Committees and Working Groups.
