

- Davos has hosted a World Cup race almost every year since 1982. Despite being one of the most prestigious World Cup races in the calendar, Davos has never hosted a Nordic Ski World Championships so far. Davos is also one of the highest-altitude venues on the World Cup circuit.
- Norway started the season winning all three men's events of both the first and second World Cup stages in Ruka and Trondheim, winning six out of six World cup races so far. The same streak happened in the 2022/23 season, and was broken by Richard Jouve (FRA) who won the first race of the third World Cup stage.
- Johannes Hoesflot Klaebo (NOR) won his 100th individual World Cup victory in his hometown of Trondheim last weekend. Klaebo became the first male athlete to reach this landmark and second overall, joining retired compatriot Marit Bjoergen (NOR), who had 114 World Cup wins before ending her career in 2018.
- Johannes Hoesflot Klaebo (NOR) has won the overall World Cup title five times between 2017/18 and 2024/25. If he wins the 2025/26 overall Crystal Globe, he will equal his countryman Bjoern Daehlie (NOR), who currently holds the record with the six overall titles won between 1991/92 and 1998/99. Klaebo is currently tied with Gunde Svan (SWE) on five titles. No other active men's cross-country skier has more than two Crystal Globes.
- Johannes Hoesflot Klaebo (NOR) has held the record for most individual World Cup wins in a single season since 2022/23, when he topped the podium 19 times. Klaebo's 16 World Cup victories in the 2023/24 season is the second-highest number of World Cup wins in a single season.
- Johannes Hoesflot Klaebo (NOR) also holds the record for most individual podiums in a single season since 2022/23, when he made it to the podium in 23 individual World Cup podiums.
- Johannes Hoesflot Klaebo (NOR) won the Sprint Classic in Trondheim last weekend, with Oskar Opstad Vike (NOR) in second place and Alvar Myhlback (SWE) third. Klaebo also won the first Sprint race in Ruka, making it his fifth including last season. Klaebo won six out of six Sprint Freestyle races last season, and three out of five Sprint Classic races.
- At just 19 years old, Alvar Myhlback (SWE) was on a World Cup podium for the first time in his career last weekend in Trondheim when he came third in the Sprint Classic race.
- Johannes Hoesflot Klaebo (NOR) won the 20km Skiathlon in Trondheim last weekend, with Harald Oestberg Amundsen (NOR) in second place and Emil Iversen (NOR) third, to mark another podium clean sweep for Norway. The top eight athletes in this race were Norwegians, and there were no non-European athletes in the top-20. Norway already has three podium clean sweeps out of six World Cup races so far.

- Einar Hedegart (NOR) won the 10km Interval Start Freestyle in Trondheim last weekend, with Andreas Fjorden Ree (NOR) in second place and Martin Loewstroem Nyenget (NOR) third, to mark another podium clean sweep for Norway, the second one in Trondheim. This was the first World Cup win for Hedegart, who had one second place last season and another the previous weekend in Ruka.
- This was just the fourth World Cup start for Einar Hedegart (NOR), just one month after announcing he was quitting biathlon to dedicate himself to cross-country skiing full-time. He now has three podiums in just four World Cup starts.
