

PREVIEW WOMEN'S PARALLEL WORLD CHAMPIONSHIPS – Wednesday 15 Feb 2023

Contenders

- Marta Bassino and Katharina Liensberger shared the gold medal in 2021 when the women's parallel event was first held at the world championships.
 - Bassino won the world title in the super-G at Courchevel/Méribel 2023 and she could equal Deborah Compagnoni (3) on a record three world titles in alpine skiing among Italian women. Gustav Thöni (5) and Zeno Colò (3) are the Italian men to have won at least three world titles.
 - Bassino (G2-S0-B1) can become the first Italian women to win four medals at the world championships.
 - Katharina Liensberger won the parallel world title and the slalom gold medal in 2021. There seven Austrian women who have won at least three world titles. Annemarie Moser-Pröll (5) is the only one to have won more than three.
 - Liensberger could also compete in the mixed team event at Courchevel/Méribel 2023. She won gold with Austria in this event at the Beijing 2022 Olympic Winter Games.
 - Petra Vlhová won the parallel World Cup standings in 2019/20 and 2020/21.
 - Switzerland has won a medal in every event at the world championships except the women's parallel event (women's/men's/mixed events in slalom, giant slalom, super-G, downhill, alpine combined, parallel and team)
 - Norway has won a medal in every event at the world championships except the men's and women's parallel events.
 - France's Tessa Worley claimed third place in the women's parallel event in 2021. Her compatriot Mathieu Faivre won the men's parallel world title that year. This makes France the only country to have won multiple world championships medals in the women's and men's parallel events in total.
 - Sweden has won 49 world championships medals (all genders, all events), including 30 in the technical events slalom and giant slalom. Its best result in the parallel events was a 13th place for Estelle Alphand in the women's event and a 16th place for Mattias Rönngren in the men's event in 2021.
- Note: the mixed team event on 14 February is not included in this statistic.
