Nordic Content Production Coordinator (50%) m/f

Are you a self-motivated, independent, multi-tasking person with a passion for all things digital and a deep passion and understanding for Nordic sports, including Cross Country, Ski Jumping and Nordic Combined?

Does the idea of creating content, managing social media channels and being at the heart of promoting the FIS Nordic competitions entice you?

FIS is looking for a Nordic Content Production Coordination, who will play an integral role in developing and maintaining the FIS digital strategy for the most traditional FIS disciplines.

This position is a 100% seasonal winter freelance job spanning six months from 1st October through 31st March. The successful applicant will work mostly off-site during competition days and evenings (mostly Thursday through Friday).

Your Primary Tasks

- Remote production and posting of content for FIS website, mobile app, social media channels for FIS stakeholders
- Work together with Media team on site at FIS events to plan and request raw content to be produced into future assets
- Coordination of editorial planning, content production and quality management workflows
- Management of live streams and various video formats such as near-live video moments, highlights, recaps and other short and long form video formats
- Management of infographics and fan engagement campaigns
- Channel and community management
- Digital marketing activation delivery and campaign optimization
- Development of content and fan engagement concepts
- Upon request: Onsite content and marketing production and coordination in collaboration with relevant FIS teams, primarily the FIS Media coordinators on site at events.

Your Profile

- Strong interest and knowledge in FIS Nordic disciplines is a must!
- Experience with Digital Communication, Video production, Digital Journalism or similar

- Proven track record as digital content producer and editor
- Fluent in English (written and spoken), other languages an asset
- Efficient work habits and ability to work under pressure with short deadlines, supporting cross-functional teams.
- Deep knowledge and passion for all things digital.
- Strong photo and video skills, data visualization and digital experience design.
- Willingness to work non-traditional hours (weekend and evenings).
- A creative and independent worker with a passion to take snow sports to the next level digitally.
