1. Official FIS Freestyle Channels

- Facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/fisfreestyle>
- Twitter: @fisfreestyle
- Instagram: @fisfreestyle
- YouTube: <https://www.youtube.com/FISFreestyle>

We encourage you to mark, tag and @-tag all relevant FIS Freestyle channels in any of your posts concerning freestyle skiing, and in any post relating to your event we will happily return the favour.

Social media is about creating connections and spreading the content as far and as fast as possible. The more we work together, the greater our reach will be!

2. Official Hashtags

For all channels commonly using hashtags (Twitter, Instagram, Facebook) the official hashtag is: #fisfreestyle

Should you have a particular hashtag you wish to use for your event as well, please let us know in advance so we can coordinate our efforts.

3. Photos and Video

We strongly encourage all of our LOCs to have a designated content manager or photographer on hand to document the on-hill action for use by their (and our) social media channels. Photos and videos are the most efficient way to communicate a sense of what takes place on hill, and through distribution on Facebook, Instagram, Twitter, and/or photo-sharing sites like Smugmug, quality images of an event are an ideal way to increase visibility for all partners involved.

We do understand that hiring content specialists on a day rate can be an expensive endeavour, which is why we suggest looking to establish something of an internship program. Seeking out a student photographer who is looking to build a portfolio, or an amateur enthusiast who will exchange photos for special competition access, are just two of the possibilities for finding a suitable documentarian for your event.

If and when you have located a photographer for your event, please put him or her in contact with Julia Ziemska to help organize logistics for the event.

Furthermore a pool of images from GEPA IMAGES will be available free of charge for editorial purpose HERE.

4. Media access

Livestream:

Beginning from this season ALL World Cup events will be live streamed on the FIS Freestyle YouTube channels. Available for free viewing in all nations where a national broadcaster does not hold exclusive rights to the event, the new live streaming agreement with broadcast rights holder InFront Sports and Media is an important and exciting one for our sports moving forward, and we look forward to growing engagement and viewership over the season as awareness spreads.

Youtube:

Women's and men's top-3 podium runs as well as winner's interviews will also be available shortly after each competition on our YouTube page, HERE. We happily encourage you to link, share and/or embed these videos through your channels throughout the season

5. Venue Channels and Key Athletes

We follow all of our venue social media channels and share, retweet and regram from them whenever possible as we work to create buzz around our events and build towards the season's marquee competitions. If you would like to see what various organisers are doing ahead of and during a FIS Freestyle event, here are complete lists of 2019/20 Audi FIS Ski Cross World Cup organisers and their respective social media.

As well, to help you follow and share/retweet/regram athlete posts, we have compiled profiles of some the most prominent men and women of the Freestyle World Cup tour. If you are interested in more athletes (e.g. from your country) please contact us and we should be able to point you in the right direction.

6. Live-scoring and Statistics

The live-scoring service for the 2019/2020 Audi FIS Ski Cross World Cup tour will be available HERE or through the FISApp for IOS and Android smartphones.

Furthermore the FIS websites offers an extensive STATISTIC section based on athletes' and nation's past result, providing interesting insights from world cups, world championships and the Winter Olympic Games. For your convenience we've chosen a handful of key tables.

Audi FIS Ski Cross
World Cup

Cross Alps Tour

The 2019/20 Audi FIS Ski Cross World Cup season will open once again with the Cross Alps Tour. Featuring six competitions at four venues over the course of 17 days, the 2019 CAT follows just a slightly adapted route across the Alps as did the 2016 and 2017 versions of the Tour, with athletes, support staff, and fan clubs in tow. The Tour begins in Val Thorens (FRA) with a pair of races on 6 & 7 December, then move to Montafon (AUT) for a competition on 14 Dec, to Arosa (SUI) for a nighttime sprint event during the week on 17 Dec, and finally finishing off with a back-to-back two-race finale in historic Innichen/San Candido (ITA) on Dec. 21 & 22.

Once again, the Cross Alps Tour will feature several Tour-specific rules and formats, a more in-depth explanation of which can be found HERE. In short, however, it should be noted that “Wild card” berths will ensure a spot in the upcoming events finals for the top 8 men and top 4 ladies according to the rankings ahead of each competition, regardless of qualifications result, and that the top 8 men and top 4 ladies according to qualifications results will have the opportunity to select their first heat opponents in a public heat selection before each competition (except for the last event of the Tour in Innichen/San Candido where only the top 32 men and 16 ladies in the rankings will be able to compete).

As seen in the last seasons, the public heat selection is a uniquely unpredictable affair, with the top athletes employing wildly different strategies, oftentimes choosing their competitors based as much on grudges and braggadocio as on perceived weakness.

The 2018 Cross Alps tour saw Sandra Naeslund (SWE) and Bastien Midol (FRA) take the respective womens’ and mens’ Tour titles, of which the Frenchman was going on to claim the 2018/19 Audi FIS Ski Cross World Cup crystal globe as the top male athlete of the season.

In an interview Midol claimed to have set his December goals on winning the tour yet again, which will for sure not be an easy way with strong athletes like Jean-Frédéric Chapuis (FRA), Alex Fiva (SUI) and other strong athletes lining up to battle this title.

The womens’ 2019 Cross Alps tour will see for sure Sweden’s Sandra Naeslund try to reach her Hattrick on the Cross Alps Tour titles, after winning it two years in a row. Another female athlete in the battle for this title will for sure be Canada’s Marielle Thompson, who finished third in the overall Ski Cross World Cup ranking last season, just behind Sandra Naeslund in second place. Fanny Smith (SUI), the Crystal globe winner of the season 2018/19 should also be in consideration this season.

Of course, the only predictable thing about ski cross is its unpredictability, and all bets are off until we finally get underway in Val Thorens this December.

VAL THORENS, FRANCE

Val Thorens is, quite simply, one of the most impressive resorts in all of Europe. If the view from the top of the Cime Caron cable car at 3200m isn't enough to convince you of this, then perhaps a quick look at some of the mountain stats will change your mind as, with a base of 2300m, Val Thorens is the highest ski resort in all of Europe, while, as part of the 3 Vallees mountain chain, Val Thorens helps make up the largest linked ski area in the world.

With so much terrain combined with a deep and reliable annual snowfall, Val Thorens is an ideal location for early season ski cross action. The 2019/20 season will be the eight consecutive year that the Audi FIS Ski Cross World Cup will visit Val Thorens' imposing slopes, with the Jean Frederic Chapuis ski cross course (named after Val Tho's favourite son and Sochi 2014 Olympic champion) hosting the first two races of this December's Audi FIS Ski Cross World Cup Cross Alps Tour.

With its spectacular setting, technical course layout, and impressive history as an Audi FIS Ski Cross World Cup venue, Val Thorens has become perhaps the premier stop on the tour.

MONTAFON, AUSTRIA

On an Audi FIS Ski Cross World Cup tour that features a long list of picturesque stops, Austria's Montafon region is perhaps the prettiest of them all. Once home to the great writer Ernest Hemingway (who wrote several short stories about his skiing experiences in Montafon, some of which are published in his famous collection A Moveable Feast), the area sometimes referred to as the the Blue Silvretta due to its surrounding peaks and glaciers proved itself to be an exceptional addition to the Audi FIS Ski Cross World Cup tour in 2015/16.

In 2019/20 Montafon will again figure prominently in the ski cross World Cup picture when, on December 14, 2019, the resort will be featured as the second stop on the fourth annual Audi FIS Cross Alps Tour.

AROSA, SWITZERLAND

An intimate, secluded resort located some two hours south of Zurich at the end of the Schanfigg valley in the Graubünden mountains, Arosa is a classic Swiss mountain town in all aspects, surrounded by high peaks, rolling farmland, and boasting a ski history that dates back to the 1930's.

The mountain itself is serviced by 16 lifts that give access to 100km of piste and a 900m vertical drop. With terrain that showcases a somewhat more mellow character than many other Swiss resorts, Arosa is an ideal family and freestyle-oriented resort, with the terrain parks and a halfpipe to prove it.

2019/20 will be the seventh consecutive season in which Arosa will host the Audi FIS Ski Cross World Cup as the resort will be the third stop on the Cross Alps Tour this December 17th. This season's stop will be one to watch, as the Arosa stage of the Tour will again feature the thrilling night-time sprint format of competition, having the finish surrounded by the Swiss crowd as they support their favorite athletes in the best Swiss way possible, with giant cowbells, which will be heard from start to finish.

SAN CANDIDO/ INNICHEN, ITALY

A small town located just inside the Italian border in the heart of the UNESCO World Heritage Site Dolomite mountains, Innichen/San Candido is rich in history, warm in atmosphere, and - as an annual host of the Audi FIS Ski Cross World Cup since 2009 - deep in its commitment to skiing.

While the Three Peaks resort at Innichen/San Candido is modest by European standards, offering 425m of vertical drop serviced by nine lifts, it is also perhaps the most picturesque setting of all on the FIS Freestyle circuit.

With the La Rocca dei Baranci massif looming behind it, the ski cross course at Innichen/San Candido offers athletes and spectators alike the truly incredible experience of taking part in World Cup skiing action within the boundaries of one of the only 193 locations that have been dedicated "World Heritage Site" worldwide.

This season, Innichen/San Candido will play host to one of our biggest events of the season, when the fourth annual Audi FIS Ski Cross Alps Tour comes to a head with back-to-back competitions on December 21 & 22, 2019. There, after battling through six competitions in four resorts in 17 days, December's king and queen of ski cross will be crowned under the Dolomites.

NAKISKA, CANADA

Based in the beautiful Canadian province of Alberta, Nakiska is well surrounded by the Rocky Mountains, just 83 kms away Calgary which presents numerous possibilities for winter sports. Nakiska offers a great skiing experience with its 64 trails and four chairlifts.

The Canadian Rockies have numerous high peaks and ranges, such as Mount Robson (3,954 m) and Mount Columbia (3,747 m). Much of the range of the Canadian Rockies is protected by national and provincial parks, several of which collectively comprise a World Heritage Site.

It is almost guaranteed that the Northern hemisphere gets snow early enough in the season to enable a great maintenance of the slopes and provide all that is necessary to build a great Ski Cross course to be ready for the race on January 18. This will be the first race in the new year after a very intense Cross Alps Tour in December and a well-deserved holiday break.

Athletes claim that it is one of the more technical courses on the circuit, and the Canadian team always puts up a great show for many supporters who find their way to the finish area, including school kids, families and fans.

IDRE FJÄLL, SWEDEN

A small town near the Norwegian border in central Sweden, Idre resort provides some of the best skiing in the country, with a long winter season that typically runs from mid-October until late-April and 27 lifts that service 41kms of trails.

2015/16 was the first season that Idre hosted Audi FIS Ski Cross World Cup action and the Swedes stepped up in a big way, introducing a truly unique course set-up that led to some of the most thrilling action seen on tour all year.

With Swedish ski cross stars like 2017 world champion and 2017/18 Ski Cross overall World Cup winner Sandra Naeslund or World Cup veteran Viktor Andersson ripping the home country strongly last couple of seasons and an impressive Swedish history of hosting FIS events dating back to 1992, expect nothing but excitement from the Idre competition again in 2019/20.

MEGÈVE, FRANCE

Megève is a traditional winter sports resort in the French Alps, founded in 1916. It was the first purpose-built resort in the Alps. The ski area is rather fragmented on an area of 8 km<sup>2</sup> there are 116 lifts providing access to 219 slopes totaling 445 km. The scenery is magnificent with stunning views of Mont Blanc from much of the ski area.

Megève – after having been a regular stop on the World Cup tour for many previous seasons - was the stage of the 2017/18 Audi FIS Ski Cross World Cup finals, which unfortunately were cancelled due to heavy snowfall and really rough weather conditions which did not allow for a final race of the season. Nevertheless, the circuit will return to this very chic resort for some world class ski cross action on February 1.

FELDBERG, GERMANY

Known around the Black Forest and beyond as "the birthplace of German skiing", Feldberg - with its impressive panoramas, extensive terrain, and deep ski history - is one of the most well-renowned resorts in Germany.

Located just over an hour away from Zurich and boasting 28 lifts, plenty of slopeside amenities, and excellent finish-area viewing, Feldberg has all the facets one would like to see in the Audi FIS Ski Cross World Cup venue.

After a very successful World Cup event with perfect weather conditions last season, the local organisers are back in the games in 2019/2020 as the Audi FIS Ski Cross World Cup tour returns on German soil, with back-to-back races slated to take place on February 8-9, 2019.

With the start being stationed some 150 meters below the top of the Zeigler lift, the finish placed next to the parking lot and all topped with a massive video wall and two very entertaining speakers, spectators won't miss any of the action.

SUNNY VALLEY, RUSSIA

Located in the southern Ural mountain range, right where Europe meets Asia, Russia's Sunny Valley ski resort is one of the newest and most progressive ski resorts in the entire world, with focus on sustainability and a commitment to freestyle skiing that has us at FIS Freestyle truly excited after the resort's debut on the World Cup stage in 2016/17.

Sunny Valley resort is based around a compact village that virtually eliminates the need for anything besides one's own feet to get from hotel, to ski lift, to any of the various other amenities a ski traveler may require. Meanwhile, on hill, an extensive terrain park and World Cup regulation halfpipe, dedicated ski and snowboard cross piste, aerials and moguls facilities, and a world-class maintenance crew have made Sunny Valley a resort that seems sure to be a World Cup destination for the years to come.

After a successful showing by the FIS Snowboard Cross World Cup in 2015/16 and an excellent turn hosting the Russian Freestyle Games in 2015, Sunny Valley kept the streak of success going with a phenomenal Audi FIS Ski Cross World Cup competition in 2017, 2018 and 2019, so the expectations are high for the Russian stop on the tour in 2019/20 season.

VEYSONNAZ, SWITZERLAND

The final stop on the Audi FIS Ski Cross World Cup tour will be for the second time, Switzerland's Veysonnaz resort. It is the general idea to establish Veysonnaz as the final resort to conclude both, the FIS Snowboard Cross and Audi FIS Ski Cross World Cup tours together at this final stage. Therefore, the resort is working hard to give the final World Cup weekend its best: public bib draws in Sion, a big, fast, and technical course with crowds cheering in a perfectly prepared village and a great atmosphere during the prizegiving ceremony, where the overall globes are handed in.

Beginning at an altitude of just above 2,500m above sea level and finishing around the 2,000m mark, the Veysonnaz track offers a breathtaking vertical drop of some 500 metres.

And while the steep and tricky start section is as crucial as any on the World Cup circuit, with more than 20 features facing the riders from top to bottom of the course there is plenty of time and space for the passing and lead changes that typically make Veysonnaz one of the most entertaining cross races to watch in the world.
