Specifications for Alpine Competition Equipment

Airbag mandatory for Speed events

3.5.2 Protector with airbag technology

3.5.2.1

Definition

Airbag protector for alpine skiing is an additional piece of protective equipment based on airbag technology with the aim to improve the protection level for the athletes which are competing in alpine competitions. ~~3.5.2.1~~

Specifications

The presence of this device must not limit the freedom of movement for the athletes during competition. The system must only be activated when the algorithm detects a crash dynamic, without any voluntary intervention. Protectors with airbag technology must be worn underneath the competition suit, and must fulfil the requirements given in art. 3.5 (Protectors) and art. 3.5.1 (Back protectors)

3.5.3

General principles

The use of Airbag protector is compulsory at World Cup, WSC and OWG speed events, DH/SG/AC. (Level-0 competitions).

A non-removable FIS compliance label affixed to the front side of the protector is standard. The label certifies compliance with the FIS equipment specifications and the supplier's safety standards (product description)

New comments from ISPP to the proposal.

For many competitors, airbag protection has been an essential protector for years, and the protectors have proven to be effective in accidents with high speed, and only a few malfunctions have been detected. The two most important suppliers, Dainese and In&Motion, confirm the function of the products and sufficient delivery capacity for all World Cup athletes for both genders for season 22/23

About 35% men and 50% women at World Cup level used the airbag protection in the season 20/21. To ensure and support a flawless implementation period with customizing sizes etc. the suppliers recommend FIS to make a normative decision this spring and make the airbag protectors compulsory from season 22/23 but the decision is subject to confirmation next spring.

Decision of the FIS Council:

The use of cut-resistant underwear, as well as airbags will be recommended for the coming season and discussions to make them mandatory as for the 2022/23 season will be held.
