   - Is able to communicate clearly in the official FIS language, English
   - Is self-confident and able to make decisions both independently and under stressful conditions.
   - Has strong organization and time management skills.
   - Has excellent communication and leadership skills.

4. Application to become a certified CoC
   - Each local organizing committee announces the candidates to the Chair of officials of the National Ski Association.
   - The application to become a CoC may only be made through the Chair of officials of the National Ski Association (Obman).
   - The application should be submitted to the Chair of the FIS Sub-Committee for Officials, Rules and Control by the Chair of officials of the respective National Ski Association.
▪ Upon application to become a CoC, the candidate will be registered as such in the central data system of the FIS – Berkutschi.
▪ The Chair of officials (Obman) of the National Ski Association must instruct the candidate in the use of the FIS data system and the maintenance of their personal profile.
▪ The Chair of officials of the National Ski Association must also explain to the candidate how to access and use the e-learning system and familiarize them with its operation.
▪ The candidate will have the opportunity to study further to become a CoC and to continue learning after becoming a CoC via the e-learning process.

5. Education and training to become certified CoC
The education is structured in a theoretical and a practical part. The candidate must first pass a written test (online). After he succeeded the written exam, he will be called-up to attend a CoC Workshop held during announced FIS Ski Jumping World Cup competition or FIS Ski Jumping Continental Cup.

▪ The training period for the CoC starts with submission of the application.
▪ Once the FIS data system is enrolled for the candidate, he has can start with the self-learning at home. The e-Learning system in Berkutschi provides several documents, test questions and pictures.
▪ The candidates are responsible for maintaining their personal profile and for entering their assignments into the FIS data system.
▪ The Chair of officials of the National Ski Association is required to check the candidate's entries and their accuracy on an ongoing basis.
▪ The training period ends with the successful completion of both the theoretical and a practical part.

6. Written test for CoC (online exam)
▪ Once the candidate feels ready for the written exam, he reports to the Chair of officials of the National Ski Association.
▪ The written exam will be taken individually and online with a time limit.
▪ Evaluation of the written exam will be performed automatically through the e-Learning system.
▪ If the candidate does not pass the exam, he may make one additional attempt after a one-year waiting period, however, a new application must be submitted by the Chair of official of their National Ski Association.

7. On-site workshop for CoC
▪ After succeeded the theoretical exam, candidates will be called-up by the Chair of officials of their National Ski Association to attend a specific FIS Ski Jumping World Cup or Continental Cup.
▪ Determination of the competition to be used for the practical part takes place at the annual “Obman meeting”.
▪ The practical part should normally be conducted at a FIS World Cup or Continental Cup event.
▪ The practical part is held during the winter season and takes about 4 or 5 days.
▪ During the event the candidate formally shadow the work of the Jury and the Local Organizing Committee and attend to a specific workshop (approx. 5 hours).
▪ The supervising Tutor (TD) will notify the Chair of the responsible FIS Sub-Committee after the candidate has attended the practical part.
▪ After graduate the practical part the candidate will be listed in the FIS data system – Berkutschi – as a certified Chief of Competition in Ski Jumping.
