

PREVIEW WOMEN'S SUPER G – Saturday 11 Dec 2021

Sofia Goggia

- Sofia Goggia completed a threepeat in the opening speed races held in Lake Louise last weekend. She won both downhill events and the super-G event.
- The most recent woman to record a longer World Cup winning run in speed events from the start of the season was Lindsey Vonn in 2012/13 (three wins in Lake Louise, one win in St. Moritz).
- With two super-G events scheduled in St. Moritz, Goggia could become the first woman to win the opening five speed events of a World Cup season since Katja Seizinger won the first six in 1997/98.
- Goggia won four super-G events in the World Cup, including the most recent held in St. Moritz on 14 December 2019. The only women to win back-to-back World Cup super-G events in St. Moritz are Karen Putzer (1999/2000 and 2001/02, not held in 2000/01) and Vonn (2009/10 and 2012/12, not held in-between)
- Goggia and Federica Brignone are level with Putzer (all 4) for most World Cup super-G wins among Italian women.
- Brignone is level with Deborah Compagnoni (both 16) for most World Cup wins among Italian women (all disciplines). Isolde Kostner (15) and Goggia (14) follow in third and fourth place.

Lara Gut-Behrami

- Lara Gut-Behrami is level with Katja Seizinger (both 16) in third place on the women's list for most World Cup victories in the super-G, behind Lindsey Vonn (28) and Renate Götschl (17).
- Gut-Behrami's first World Cup career win came in the super-G in St. Moritz on 20 December 2008.
- With her second place in Lake Louise, Gut-Behrami became the first woman to finish on six successive World Cup super-G podiums since Vonn from January 2015 to February 2016 (10 in a row).
- Gut-Behrami (32) is one shy of equalling Hanni Wenzel (33) in ninth place on the women's list for most World Cup wins. Katja Seizinger (36) is in eighth.
- Only Annemarie Moser-Pröll (14), Mikaela Shiffrin (7) and Vonn (7) have claimed as many women's World Cup wins on Swiss snow as Gut-Behrami (7).

Other contenders

- Switzerland has collected eight women's World Cup super-G podiums in 2021, already a record for the country in a single calendar year. The most recent country to achieve more than eight World Cup podiums in this discipline in a single calendar year was United States (10 in 2011).

- Switzerland's four super-G wins in the women's World Cup in 2021 are most for a country since United States (5 in 2015). The record is six wins by Austria in both 2000 and 2005.
- Only Austrian (216) and German (100) women have recorded more World Cup super-G podiums than Swiss women (99).
- Mirjam Puchner, third in the super-G in Lake Louise on 5 December, is the last Austrian woman to achieve a World Cup win in St. Moritz, when she won the downhill on 16 March 2016.
- The only Austrian woman to win the St. Moritz super-G in the World Cup is Michaela Dorfmeister (1999, 2006).
- Tamara Tippler finished on seven World Cup super-G podiums, but never won. This is currently the women's record for most podium places without ever winning in this discipline. Tippler finished fourth in the Lake Louise super-G last weekend.
- At the age of 30 years and 246 days (on 11 December), Tippler can become the oldest Austrian woman to claim her first super-G victory in the World Cup. Nicole Schmidhofer was 29 years and 317 days old when she claimed her maiden World Cup super-G win, in Garmisch-Partenkirchen on 26 January 2019.
- Mikaela Shiffrin achieved four World Cup wins in the super-G, all in her last eight World Cup participations in this discipline.
- Of Shiffrin's five World Cup super-G podiums, two came in St. Moritz. She claimed victory in the Swiss ski resort on 8 December 2018 and finished third on 14 December 2019.
- Only Annemarie Moser-Pröll (14), Lara Gut-Behrami (7) and Lindsey Vonn (7) have claimed as many women's World Cup wins on Swiss snow as Shiffrin (7).

International Ski Federation www.fis-ski.com
Gracenote Sports on Twitter @GracenoteGold