Definition of the duties of the Race Director and the Technical Delegates at Grass Ski World Cup competitions

(Race Director as a referee – art. 1 of Grass Ski World Cup rules and art. 603.4.9 ICR)

I. Fundamental questions

1. With the recognition of these regulations valid for Grasski WC, the Race Director takes over the duties of a referee. This is because the referee has the operative word about the technical section (section which deals with the area of start, track and finish). The Technical Delegate of Alpine WC competitions keep the duties concerning the administrative section (the whole working section with the exception of the technical section).
2. To prevent any conflicts that might arise from the competence of both regulations, it is essential to carry out certain determinations.
3. It is necessary to define which decisions, duties or other competences belong to the technical or administrative section. In marginal cases, where the competence belongs both to the technical delegate and also the Race Director, the director has the decision right when appointing competence. Their decision is obligatory. The Race Director cannot take over competences, which do not belong to the technical section.
4. There are also tasks and duties, which according to the regulations belong to both the Race Director (referee and ass. referee), and also the Technical Delegate. The change of competence at Alpine WC is therefore dual:
Race Director takes over the duties of the referee, which they were appointed to on the basis of the ICR, they also take over the duties of the Technical Delegate, which would be appointed to them on the basis of the ICR, but limited on to the technical section (as a referee, they are also the Chair of Jury).
For Super-G WC regulations the Race Director has also the duties of the referee. They then decide about technical devices and safety measures on the competition tracks. These rules are also valid for World Championships.
5. Consisting, therefore valid rules show which duties at the World Championships and WC competitions belong to the director of the race, technical delegate or together to both officials.

II. Common Responsibilities

These are resulting from the general rule mentioned earlier on; it is possible that in individual cases the Race Director or the Assistant Referee has to take other tasks than the ones assigned to them, for instance the inspection of homologation files, inquiries regarding special permits, cancellation of events due to the lack of homologation, inspection of TD reports concerning former events held in that particular location as well as the checking of proposed improvements and the filing of the referee minutes, the calculating of race points, etc.

Most of all, it seems important that all leading officials in a World Cup event approach their tasks with discernment and courage and with a commitment to co-operation and co-ordination. Of course, a unanimous decision is always the best one.

The most important rule is that the Technical Delegate is respected as the official representative of the International Ski Federation at the place of the competition and as such has to fulfil all tasks associate with this position, including that of, for instance, representation of the FIS.

B. Junior Cup Rules
